RICHARD WORMALD

Details of practice

Richard is consistently ranked as one of the best juniors at the criminal Bar.

He is currently advising senior management members of Rolls Royce in respect of corrupt payments allegations, is acting in a high profile insider-dealing case being prosecuted by the FCA, and is advising the Metropolitan Police in respect of ongoing terrorism investigations. He is defending in the UK's largest ever cash seizure case and money-laundering investigation.

Last year he acted: as leading counsel in a high-profile Watchdog fraud; represented the first defendant in one of the country's biggest boiler-room frauds; for a solicitor in a complex, multi-handed embezzlement case. Other cases in the recent past include various corporate fraud, bribery and corruption allegations, representing the former Cabinet Minister Chris Huhne, representing a well-known hotelier on charges of rape, acting in a number of murder and manslaughter cases, undertaking judicial review proceedings, and inquest and inquiry work.

Richard also acts as a legal adviser in licensing and disciplinary hearings.

He is highly-rated in all his chosen fields of practice: crime, fraud, professional discipline and licensing. He is commended for his hard-work and industry, for his colour and life, and for his professional knowledge and expertise. He has been short-listed for Chambers 100 — the Bar, a ranking of the UK's top business law barristers and was winner of the Chambers and Partners Award 2013/14 for Crime Junior of the year.

He is also experienced in tax tribunal work, inquest work, health and safety prosecutions and is a well-regarded licensing practitioner.

His fields of practice are:

- Crime – murder, manslaughter and serious drugs cases
- Fraud – in particular bribery, corruption, insider-dealing and corporate fraud
- Licensing and gaming
- Professional discipline and regulatory
- Public and Administrative law
- Inquests
- Civil and commercial
- VAT and tax inquiries

Crime

Richard has defended and prosecuted a broad range of criminal offences for just over 24 years. He has defended in a number of murder, manslaughter and death by dangerous cases, including as leading junior. He undertaken a series of complex and sensitive matters for the defence in the Court of Appeal. He prosecutes serious crime for the National Crime Agency, and in 2011 he was commended by the Home Secretary for his work on behalf of its predecessor, SOCA.

He has a reputation for robust cross-examination and as fearless defence advocate. This year he is defending in a heroin trafficking case, a multi-handed murder, and acting for a solicitor charged with perverting the course of justice.

Fraud

Richard has acted in some of the most high profile fraud cases, both on behalf of the Crown and the defence. He has developed particular expertise in bribery and corruption cases, acting for an HMRC officer charged with accepting corrupt payments from The Sun; and the director of an oil company involved in procuring contracts through bribes, several Indonesian corruption cases, and management of Rolls Royce under investigation by the SFO.

This year Richard is defending in a market abuse fraud, an insider-dealing allegation, a corporate corrupt payments case, as well as on behalf of two solicitors each separately charged with fraud, and a insolvency service prosecution. He has dealt with a series of complex fraud appeals in Court of Appeal, prosecutes financial crime for the CPS and acts in tax tribunal cases where fraud is alleged as part of the claim.

Licensing and gaming

Richard has conducted numerous applications and appeals on behalf of licensees acting as counsel of choice for Punch Taverns, Greene King, Exxon Mobil, Asda and others. As well as representing market-leaders in the industry he is instructed by private clients and sometimes by residents' associations. He acts for Apollo Resorts & Leisure Ltd in respect of its various casino applications, and is instructed by Cashino in respect of its AGC and Tanning outlets.

Professional discipline and regulatory

He is experienced in hearings at police disciplinary tribunals, before the Law Society and a variety of professional disciplinary bodies: sports discipline tribunals, the General Dental and General Medical Councils, and the Architects' Regulatory Board. He has appeared in a dozen or so inquests and represented one of the officers said to be have falsified evidence in the Stockwell inquest after the death of Jean Charles de Menezes.

Public and Administrative Law

Richard has appeared in the Administrative Court on numerous occasions in relation to judicial review of criminal, licensing and regulatory matters. He is particularly familiar with costs' legislation and has twice been to the High Court in respect of defendants costs orders.
